TAP INTO OUR INCLUSIVE NETWORKS

At The Curious Academy we believe diverse teams build better products. That's why we actively invest in developing talent from all backgrounds for in-demand roles like data analytics and digital marketing.

By partnering with us, companies can tap into our inclusive network and confidently hire high-potential candidates based on a robust evaluation of both hard and soft skills.

65% have a degree/master's/phd and the average age is 36

Our immersive courses effectively train learners from diverse backgrounds to become skilled data analysts and inbound marketing specialists.

We then match top talent with forward-thinking employers seeking to build more innovative and productive teams.

We empower companies to move beyond talk to action when it comes to diversity, equity, inclusion and ESG. Our skills-based hiring practices and diverse talent programs give employers the tools and pipeline to build more representative teams.

By partnering with our data analytics and digital marketing bootcamps, companies gain access to previously overlooked talent pools. We remove bias from the hiring process by evaluating candidates on demonstrated skills versus subjective criteria. The result is increased diversity leading to innovation, productivity and achieving ESG goals

We enable companies to walk the talk on building inclusive, sustainable workforces.
